

Bio for Meg Cimino

Meg Cimino is a Director in the Compliance Department at Societe Generale, managing regulatory change. She has held previous Compliance roles at Morgan Stanley, Bear Stearns, and Goldman Sachs, was a Senior Editor at SmartMoney Magazine and an associate at the law firm of Kelley Drye & Warren. At Societe Generale, she founded and is the president of the DiverseAbilities Employee Resource Group, representing employees with disabilities and parents of children with disabilities, and is on the firm's Diversity and Inclusion Council. Meg is also the Chair of the All Abilities Legal Resources Group at the Association of Corporate Counsel New York City, former member of the Committee to Enhance Diversity in the Profession at the Association of the Bar of the City of New York and founder and former Chair of the All Abilities Task Force of the Morgan Stanley Legal and Compliance Diversity and Inclusion Committee. Meg earned her JD from the University of Pennsylvania Law School and her AB from Harvard College.